John Batterby is the UK country manager of the International Marketing Council. He was editor of the Sunday Independent from 1996 to 2001. (john.batterby@ong.co.uk)

Professor Jackson Banda is the SAB Life Unesco Chair of Media and Democracy at Rhodes University. His research interests span African political thought and media policies, the economy of communication and media and civic education. (fbanda@ru.ac.za)

Dr Peter Benjamin is the general manager of Cell-Life, a not-for-profit company that develops technology solutions for the HIV/AIDS sector, particularly cellphones for mass communication around HIV. (peter@cell-life.org.za)

Professor Guy Berger is head of the School of Journalism and Media Studies at Rhodes University and founder of the New Media Lab. He writes Convex, a weekly column, at www.my.co.za/convex. (g.berger@ru.ac.za)

William Bird has been monitoring the media for 13 years and works with media to entrench human rights values. (william@mediamonitoring.org.za)

Robert Brand holds the Pearson Chair of Economics Journalism at Rhodes University. He teaches and researches in the fields of economics journalism, media law and media history. (j.brand@ru.ac.za)

Carol Brown is the Durban editor of AntThrob, the leading website on contemporary South African art, and a former director of the Durban Art Gallery. She has a master’s in art history from Rhodes. (browncaro@hotmail.com)

Jarred Cinman is the software director at Cambri, a web development, content management and digital marketing company. He has worked in the Internet industry for more than 10 years. (j.cambri.com)

Mark Comerford is a journalist and columnist who writes mainly about business for Business Day and Moneyweb. He runs the website www.dealweb.co.za (mcomerford@yahoo.co.za)

Peter du Toit is the deputy director of Rhodes University’s Sol Plaatje Institute for Media Leadership. (p.dutoit@ru.ac.za)

Paula Fray is the regional director of Inter Press Service (IPS). She is the founder of Paula Fray & Associates (now frayintermedia), a media training service. (pfray@ips.org)

Harold Gess lectures photojournalism at Rhodes University. He has previously worked as a photojournalist and commercial photographer and continues to freelance. (h.gess@ru.ac.za)

Ian Glenn is the deputy editor of the Sunday Independent from 1996 to 2001. (ion@hst.org.za)

Sandra Roberts is a project co-ordinator at the Media Monitoring Project. She is editing her doctorate at the University of Johannesburg. (sandra@mediamonitoring.org.za)

Reg Rumney is the director of the Centre for Economics Journalism in Africa (CEJA), whose aim is to improve the coverage of macro-economics, finance and business on the continent. (rumney@ru.ac.za)

Wadim Schreiner is the managing director of Media Tenor South Africa and partner in Media Tenor International (Sizemore@mediatenero.co.za)

Elinor Situuli is a writer, human rights activist and political analyst. She works in the South African office for the Crisis in Zimbabwe Coalition, the umbrella body of Zimbabwean non-governmental organisations. (elinosi@active.co.za)

Marion Stevens is the treatment monitor for the Health Systems Trust. She has worked in the area of sexual and reproductive health and HIV/AIDS for about 20 years. (ms@hst.org.za)

Hilton Turcotte is the production editor at Moneyweb and is responsible for production across all the group’s channels. He won the online category of the 2009 Telecom IT Journalist of the Year competition. (hiltontantara@yahoo.com)

Allan Thompson is Associate Professor at Carleton University’s School of Journalism and Communication and a director of the Rwandan Initiative, a partnership between Carleton’s Journalism and Media Studies and Kigali-based organisations. (rogers@ru.ac.za)

Andrew Trench is the deputy editor of the Daily Dispatch and Editor of Dispatch Online. (andrewt@dispatch.co.za)

Elvira van Noort is a journalist and media trainer, has a masters degree in Journalism and Media Studies from Rhodes University. (elvira.noot@johomail.com)

Pieter van Zyl is a senior reporter at Huisgenoot, YOLO and Drum. His research on reporting on crime and other traumatic events in South Africa is part of his project for the Roslyn Carter Fellowship for Mental Health Reporting. (pvanzy@huisgenoot.co.za)

Melissa Wall teaches journalism at California State University. You can find out more about her at www.melissawall.wordpress.com (melissawall@gmail.com)

Karen Williams works in human rights and transitional justice in Africa and Asia. She started her journalism career at the anti-apartheid weekly South, and works for various international media organisations. (kwilliams@gmail.com)

Elvira van Noort and Pieter van Zyl contributed to a four-part series on the conflict in DRC for Belgium’s Vlaamse Limburgse Maatschappij VLM and the Belgian Agency for Development Cooperation (BROZA). (elvira.vannoort@netactive.co.za)

Vincent Kaphyia is the editor of the Zimbabwe Independent, a privately-owned weekly based in Harare. He is also a media activist and campaigner for media freedom. (v.kaphyia@zic.co.zw)

Laissa Klaazings is the Rhodes Student Services Officer and Ruth First House warden. Her areas of interest are race and gender-based violence, feminism, LGBTI issues, social justice and transformation in higher education. (sklaazings@ru.ac.za)

Megan Knight is a senior lecturer in International Journalism at the University of Central Lancashire in Preston. In the USA she hold MA as Media Studies from Rhodes University and a BGS from Simon Fraser University. (m.knight@gmail.com)

Terry Kurgan is an artist based in Johannesburg whose practice has included a diverse range of public realm art projects. (tkurgan@africa.com)

Sim Kyazze teaches writing and editing to Rhodes journalism students. His research interests include public affairs, media and democracy and African community media and social capital. (sk@ru.ac.za)

Terry Kurgan is a documentary photographer and photojournalist and commercial photographer and runs the website www.dealweb.co.za (mcomerford@yahoo.co.za)

Elvira van Noort and Pieter van Zyl contributed to a four-part series on the conflict in DRC for Belgium’s Vlaamse Limburgse Maatschappij VLM and the Belgian Agency for Development Cooperation (BROZA). (elvira.vannoort@netactive.co.za)

Vincent Kaphyia is the editor of the Zimbabwe Independent, a privately-owned weekly based in Harare. He is also a media activist and campaigner for media freedom. (v.kaphyia@zic.co.zw)

Laissa Klaazings is the Rhodes Student Services Officer and Ruth First House warden. Her areas of interest are race and gender-based violence, feminism, LGBTI issues, social justice and transformation in higher education. (sklaazings@ru.ac.za)